

A trusted partner for educators, parents and Young Australians

For over 15 years, High Resolves has been and continues to be a trusted provider of high-quality learning experiences that help young people develop critical life skills, including empathy, resilience and independent thinking.

High Resolves partners with schools to equip young people with life skills through delivering professionally facilitated, immersive student workshops; training educators to deliver supporting lessons in the classroom that complement existing subject areas; and offering real world project-based learning programs where students can apply their new skills to help solve existing problems in society.

Our school workshops

Over four immersive workshops, young people explore Identity and Purpose as a way of belonging, fairness and equity and what it takes to create a Just Society, ways to achieve Social Progress through inclusive leadership and collaboration, and in the Better Self workshop, they explore their values and ethical decision making profiles.

In each experience, young people are asked to put themselves in the shoes of others, to understand the various components of decision-making in order to benefit a broader community, not just themselves. Inquisitiveness is encouraged, as well as inclusive leadership and collaboration, helping young people use their voice and initiative in fulfilling their human responsibility towards others.

Through the program, young people explore their own exposure to bias, misinformation and manipulation, and in doing so, develop greater social and emotional skills, resilience to adversity, and explore ways they can work together to promote security and hope for the future.

Led by expert facilitators

Our high-energy, deeply engaging facilitators have a wealth of experience working with people from diverse backgrounds, with diverse learning styles and in different school environments.

Supported by free resources

Complimentary teaching resource packs help teachers deliver classroom experiences that reinforce our school workshops, helping to embed citizenship education into school curriculum.

Our Aim

To reach 50% of all Australian teenagers by 2025

Australia is the home of High Resolves.

Since 2005, High Resolves has worked with over 500 schools within the east coast states of Australia, and engaged more than 350,000 students. We have delivered professional training for thousands of school and university teachers through seminars, conferences and in-school workshops. Our Australian Videos for Change competition is well established and attracts thousands of participants each year, with millions of views of the students' videos globally.

The High Resolves program is easily scalable, with in-person and online capability to support schools, educators and students across metro, regional and remote areas of Australia and beyond.

Engagement with communities and partners (including universities, youth organisations and local councils) has been integral to growing the High Resolves program and making sure it fits within the fabric of the local context. We pride ourselves on being able to adapt to and support the unique needs of the people we work with and the places we work within.

In 2021 and beyond, High Resolves is seeking partnership opportunities to further expand into the rest of Australia, as well as New Zealand. By complementing in-person deliveries with our O-Lab, remote delivery capability, we want to reach 50% of Australian youth within the next five years.
